Nearly Six Hundred Grade Pupils Ge to Freshman Class.

MOST WILL TAKE BUSINESS COURSE

Expressions of Preference Received by Superintendent Pearse Show Preponderant Desire for Practical Training.

Nearly 600 Omaha children have completed the work of the eighth grade in the city schools and have been recommended for promotion to the High school. Cards were filled out by the pupils who are to enter the High school, in which it was stated what course they desire to take. Last year 20 per cent of the pupils who completed work in the grades elected the commercial course. Although the reports for this year are incomplete as yet, indications are that a much larger percentage of the eighth grade graduates will take

The Latin-English course is next in popularity. German-English and French-English courses are in favor with the new blood that is to enter the High school, while the pupils who have elected the classical course are few.

All the children who will begin their All the children who will begin their High school course have been divided into three classes according to the records they made in the grades. Teachers and princimade in the grades. Teachers and principles of the constitution after constitution of the constitution pals have made this division after considering the marks children have received in daily work and examinations and the ability they have displayed in mastering the lower branches. In the first class are children who have attained an average of 90 or more and children supposed to be capable of making such an average. The second class contains pupils ranging from 80 to 50 in average and the third class is made up of pupils whose averages varied from 70 to 80. The marks have not been adhered to strictly in this classification. The pupils who have been recommended ion to the High school are as

N. WITHNELL DIES Pioneer Nebraska Woman Succumbs to an Affliction of the Heart.

Mrs. R. N. Withnell died yesterday at a. m. at the Merriam hotel with heart trouble. Mrs. Withnell had been sick for several years. She spent the winter in California and returned to Omaha a month ago, much improved in health, but since friends now masquarading under aliases, that time she has rapidly lost strength. Mrs. Withnell's maiden name was Alwilda E, Boegel. She came to Bellevue by years removed to Omaha. In 1860 she was and the shelves of the total dealers are Withnell Bros. & Smith, brick manufacturers. Six children were born to this union, but all are now dead. A grandson, Richard L. The American cracker is better than the Chinese cracker, being surer of fire and going off with a superior noise. This is true only of the larger and better grade of goods. Small firecrackers, of the kind that sell for 5 cents a pack, will never be made in the United States, because labor here is too high. Their manufacture will continue to be monopolized by the Chinese, who utilize for the purpose the cheapest kind of straw paper. A piece of paper 9x30 inches will make twenty-one of the tiny cylindrical bombs. The powder is of the poorest grade and the fuse is from the inner lining of the bamboo. A bit of red clay is forced into one end of each paper tube and the explosive is poured into the other end. The fuses are braided together;
